General Cryptocurrency News:

- As part of the communique released after the Buenos Aires G20 summit last week, world leaders pledged new regulations for "crypto-assets". The proposals were part of measures meant to grow the global economy by applying technology to the financial sector.
- Galaxy Digital CEO, Mike Novogratz, announced that he is still positive on cryptocurrencies despite the recent tumble the market has seen after the euphoric 2017 rise. While admitting that the fall has been tough on investor sentiment, he believes that as the SEC and other regulatory bodies solidify rules governing digital currencies, institutional investors will grow more comfortable allocating new capital to the asset class.
- South African Finance authorities have announced that they are seeking comment on their proposed legislation that could potentially offer regulatory certainty for cryptocurrencies. The regulations would be a complete overhaul of the countries existing National Payment System and would seek to "allow/enable new or unregulated service providers, services, systems and instruments."

BTC News:

- The SEC announced that they will be postponing their decision on the VanEck/Solid X BTC ETF until February 27, 2019. Approximately 10 BTC ETFs have been submitted by various companies in 2018.
- Pessimism around BTC prices has risen as short bets reached a six-week high on various global exchanges this past week.
- Intel was awarded a patent by the U.S. Patent & Trademark Office for a new processor it claims can conduct "energy-efficient high-performance bitcoin mining." The new processors would allow mining without the application of hardware accelerators such as application-specific integrated circuits (ASIC).

Trading History YTD:

- BTC reached all-time highs at the end of 2017 and has since declined for most of 2018.

Current Environment:

- BTC sold off early in the week to make a new short-term low of $US3,210.
- Volumes remained elevated this past week as the average coins traded per day was 1.5 million.

■ XRP News:

- R3, a provider of distributed ledger technology, announced that it has added functionality for XRP to its cryptocurrency settlements app. The move comes as the two companies recently closed previous legal disputes stemming from intellectual property rights.

■ Trading History YTD:

- XRP sustained a parabolic rise like the rest of the space at the end of 2017 and has since fallen back to pre-December levels. Along the way, sharp rallies have occurred only to sell back to trend.

■ Current Environment:

- XRP sold off early in the week to make a new short-term low of $US0.29.
- Volumes remained flat this week after moving higher most of October. Coins traded per day averaged 1.48 billion.

■ ETH News:

- Ethereum's core developer group has now reached an agreement on when the blockchain's new code change, Constantinople, will activate. Block number 7,080,000 is now agreed upon as the activation point at which ETH users will be able to upgrade to the new code and is forecasted to be mined sometime between January 14-18th, 2019.
- Signature Bank (NASDAQ:SBNY) announced it is planning to launch a institutional payments platform which will be powered by a permissioned version of the Ethereum blockchain. The platform, developed in conjunction with trueDigital Holdings, will allow clients to move money 24/7 in less than 30 seconds by converting USD into permissioned ERC-20 standard tokens.

■ Trading History YTD:

- Despite rallying aggressively in April 2018, ETH has continued to fall during the remainder of 2018. Small plateaus have consistently broken lower on high volume.

■ Current Environment:

- ETH sold-off early in the week to make a new short-term low of US$81.91, however, it has rallied since to the low-90's.
- Volumes continued to accelerate last week as coins traded per day averaged 21 million.

■ BCH News:

- Despite losing the mining war to incumbent BCH ABC, BCH Satoshi's Vision (BCH SV) is now worth more than BCH ABC as the new coin has relatively outperformed the rest of cryptocurrencies during the recent sell-off.
- A new lawsuit has been filed, which alleges that BCH ABC proponents illegally colluded to manipulate the market and disadvantage BCH SV during the November 15 hard fork. The lawsuit was filed for United Investment Corp. against Roger Ver, Bitcoin.com, a Bitmain co-founder, and the founder of the Kraken BTC exchange.

■ Trading History YTD:

- After rallying throughout May, BCH has ground slowly downward alongside the general cryptocurrency markets for the balance of 2018.

■ Current Environment:

- BCH sold off during the week to make a new short-term low of US$100.
- Volumes remain elevated as coins traded averaged two million per day during the week.

■ LTC News:

- No significant LTC-related news this week.

■ Trading History YTD:

- Since December 2017 which saw LTC rally more than 400%, the price of LTC has steadily declined throughout 2018. Some counterrallies have been seen since then, but nothing that has broken the descending triangle formation.
- Volumes have started to rise in LTC after stabilizing at four million coins traded per day.

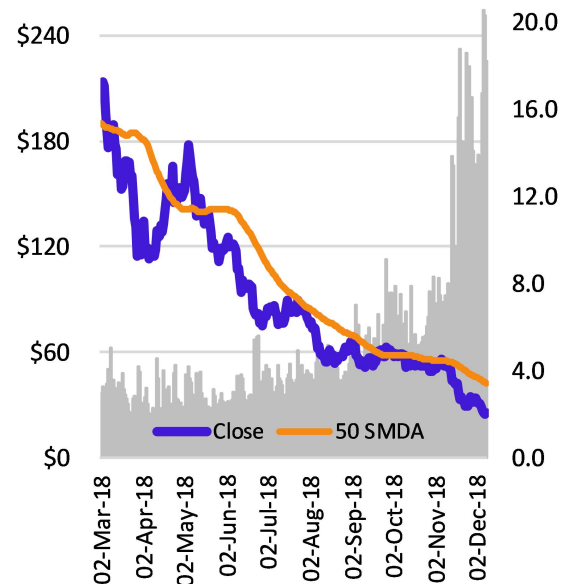

■ Current Environment:

- BCH sold off during the week to make a new short-term low of US$23.19.
- Volumes remained elevated this past week as coins traded per day averaged 16.6 million.

■ ETH Classic News:

- Major ETC developer, Ethereum Classic Development Team (ETCDEV), announced that it was shutting down operations. The news comes after the team's CTO recently noted increasing difficulty in securing funding for development operations.

■ Trading History YTD:

- ETC has exhibited a similar descending triangle pattern after rising more than 400% in late 2017. Small rallies in early May and August have been sold as the coin has now arrived at levels last seen before the large 2017 rise.

■ Current Environment:

- ETC sold-off early in the week to make a new short-term low of US$3.33.
- Average volumes reached a new short-term high of 44.7 million coins traded per day.
